BECKY B HAIR NORTH LAKES NOW OPEN!

THE BECKY B DIFFERENCE

Becky B has always had an incredible love for all things hair-like but wanted to create a new culture and a new 'flavour' of hairdressing salon. A place where clients would not only walk out with a great new hairstyle, but somewhere they would feel amazing, not just physically but emotionally.

A place full of life, love and laughter, and a space where hair stylists could freely express themselves. Where they could kick butt simply because they felt so empowered at work, and somewhere they could also empower their clients. And the rest is history ...

THE BECKY B BEGINNINGS

It all started in 2012 in a salon in Caloundra where the Becky B team was slowly creating a highly successful business and servicing its clients to perfection. In fact, it was so successful that it was voted Number #1 Salon on the Sunshine Coast two years in a row!

Clients were travelling all the way from Brisbane to visit them, so Becky B thought, why not bring my business to them? And after a lot of hard work and some smart planning ... voila! Beck B North Lakes was born!

BECKY B NORTH LAKES

The minute you approach our doorstep, prepare for an exuberant welcome! We love our job (and it won't be half obvious), so don't be alarmed by our constant singing and dancing. And yes, it's free of charge – it's just a regular day at Becky B!

The first step? Developing your action plan. Here's where your talented stylist will discuss your long-term hair goals, your hair's health and condition, your hair maintenance and whether you have any hair or scalp conditions.

Then comes the fun part – time for your cut and colour! This is where things get really exciting, and it's the part we love best, because once we're done, we guarantee you'll walk out of here not just with a beautiful haircut, but with a dazzling smile as well!

THE BECKY B TEAM

We have a diverse group of strong intelligent woman working here, with qualifications in trichology, business, marketing, management, personal training, dance and child care. We have specialised training in cutting, colour work and barbering. We are women that understand the science of hair, believe in teamwork and most of all, support each other as much as we can. In fact, we're kinda like family!

THE BECKY B FAN CLUB

"I couldn't be more excited that Becky B has moved to North Lakes. Living on the other side of the city means that I can come back to my wonderful hairdresser, I can meet all the new and amazing staff in the salon and I can share a little banter and lots of laughter. Being a woman who isn't skilled in the art of hairdressing or any form of hair therapy for that matter, I always feel comfortable in the hands of Becky B and her wonderful team. I have never felt judged or worried about my lack of 'hair knowledge' - I just know that I will be looked after and I will walk out ecstatic!" — Rachelle Smith, North Lakes

I SEE WHAT YOU DID THERE...

Facing up to modern privacy concerns

Most people know mobile phones reveal our movements and credit card companies collect our purchase habits but individuals are generally not bothered because they have "nothing to hide".

But what most people don't know is the extent to which facial recognition technology is being used to collect, store and share personal information for commercial and law enforcement uses, without our consent or knowledge, says Dr Monique Mann from QUT's Crime and Justice Research Centre.

"The expansion of collection of personal information by law enforcement and security agencies is not matched by adequate oversight or accountability measures to safeguard people's privacy," Dr Mann said.

"Most people are unaware of the National Facial Biometric Matching Capability (NFBMC) which became operational in 2016 and enables agencies to share facial templates for the purpose of face recognition.

"The biometric information of every Australian citizen with a passport has already been included so it contains the facial templates of approximately 12 million Australians.

"There are attempts to also increase coverage by including the drivers licence databases in Australia's states and territories. Indeed, the Queensland government passed legislation to enable this last week."

Dr Mann said use of big data is growing and the aggregation and mining of huge datasets enables individuals to be identified quite easily.

"Also face recognition technology can identify and track individuals in physical space while also providing a gateway to the large searchable, ever-expanding datasets held by government, law enforcement and security agencies," she said.

"Most of us are simply unaware of how our information is being integrated and used - either with our knowledge such as for passports or driver licences, or unwittingly as in social media sites - and how it is shared and used for secondary reasons beyond the initial purpose supporting its collection.

"Australians have limited protections for the use of our personal information and those we do have under the Privacy Act have significant exemptions."

"Most of us are simply unaware of how our information is being integrated and used - either with our knowledge such as for passports or driver licences, or unwittingly as in social media sites"

While Facebook is not alone in the collection of personal information and it's potential misuse it has been the focus of the very recent privacy concerns in the digital age. Facebook have officially changed policies and founder Mark Zuckerberg has even fronted the global press answering some tough questions (with politician-like diplomacy) but it hasn't seemed to slow the #deletefacebook movement, with even massive identity Elon Musk deleting his deleting SpaceX and Tesla's pages.

Regardless of your feelings about privacy there may be more benefits to deleting your Facebook account than just protecting your private data - it could also reduce your stress levels according to a University of Queensland research team led by Dr Eric Vanman of the School of Psychology, investigated the effects of a short break from Facebook on a person's stress and well-being.

"Taking a Facebook break for just five days reduced a person's level of the stress hormone cortisol," Dr Vanman said.

"However, while participants in our study showed an improvement in physiological stress by giving up Facebook, they also reported lower feelings of well-being.

"People said they felt more unsatisfied with their life, and were looking forward to resuming their Facebook activity."

Dr Vanman said there were a number of theories behind the mixed results.

"Abstaining from Facebook was shown to reduce a person's level of the stress hormone cortisol, but people's own ratings of their stress did not change - perhaps because they weren't aware their stress had gone down," he said.

"People experienced less well-being after those five days without Facebook - they felt less content with their lives - from the resulting social disconnection of being cut-off from their Facebook friends.

"We don't think that this is necessarily unique to Facebook, as people's stress levels will probably reduce anytime they take a break from their favourite social media platforms."

"It seems that people take a break because they're too stressed, but return to Facebook whenever they feel unhappy because they have been cut off from their friends," he said.

FAREWELL TO FORMS AT TRANSPORT DEPARTMENT AND MAIN ROADS

Filling out paper forms for some transactions will soon be a thing of the past, following the roll-out of paperless applications in Queensland Transport and Main Roads customer service centres.

Aiming to make the process faster and easier, customers with an existing smartcard, including Queensland drivers licence, marine licence and Adult Proof of Age card, will be able to complete several transactions without filling out a paper form.

The shift to paperless for certain transactions will be rolled out in stages to Queensland customers during the year with plans to further the paperless push ongoing.

Under the new process, customers are still required to bring all the necessary supporting documents to conduct their business, including identity evidence and any other materials they made need to complete a service.

To ensure the accuracy of information recorded through verbal interactions, customers will also be required to confirm the details of the transaction when they're done.

As of now you can perform these tasks without paper: renew driver licence, upgrade licence, replace driver licence, practical driving tests, re-issue licence after cancellation and change your details.

For more information about which transactions no longer require a paper form, visit www.tmr.qld.gov.au.

LOCAL BLACK SPOT TO BE UPGRADED

Improving access for Murrumba Downs/Griffin residents to the Bruce Highway

The Australian Government will prioritise a vital upgrade to the Bruce Highway, ensuring Murrumba Downs/Griffin residents have faster and more direct access to and from the Highway.

The federal government last week made a commitment to fund 80 per cent of an upgrade to the Bruce Highway at Murrumba Downs/Griffin, specifically creating direct access for motorists driving on and off the Highway.

The announcement forms part of the Turnbull Government's vision to provide better infrastructure throughout Queensland to ease the congestion local motorists face each day.

Ensuring Queenslanders spend less time travelling on roads and more time with family and friends is a priority of the Turnbull Government which has already committed $13.8 billion in infrastructure funding for Queensland.

The upgrade, which will be finalised between the federal and state governments, will provide local residents with the missing northbound entry and southbound exit points around the Dohles Rocks Road interchange.

Currently, access to the Bruce Highway at Dohles Rocks Road is restricted to motorists travelling southbound or exiting northbound.

The lack of access points means motorists are forced to use local roads to and from Anzac Avenue interchange creating congestion and forcing traffic to drive past school zones to access the Highway.

This prioritised project will ease congestion and mean better access to and from the Sunshine Coast and surrounding areas for the 5,000 families in and around the Murrumba Downs and Griffin areas.

The upgrade is estimated to cost up to $150 million with the Turnbull Government to provide funding in addition to the $530 million allocated to upgrades between Bribie Island Road and Steve Irwin Way.

The strong advocacy of local members, the Hon Peter Dutton and Luke Howarth has played a vital role in ensuring this project has been prioritised.

In a further boost for motorists travelling to and from the north of Brisbane, it is expected that the Pine River to Caloundra Road Planning Study initiated by the Federal Government will be finalised soon.

The study will identify upgrades for government consideration that benefit the almost 64,000 vehicles using the 60 kilometre long road corridor every day.

Identified upgrades will be aimed at further reducing congestion, improving travel times and boosting flood immunity on one of the busiest sections of the Bruce Highway.

The Turnbull Government remains committed to delivering its $6.7 billion 10-year program to fix the Bruce Highway which was launched at the 2013 election.

The program includes more than $1.5 billion towards safety upgrades that have already helped to reduce fatalities and crashes by more than 30 per cent.

The program has also helped to support 2400 jobs with a quarter of all projects currently under construction and 35 per cent having already been completed.

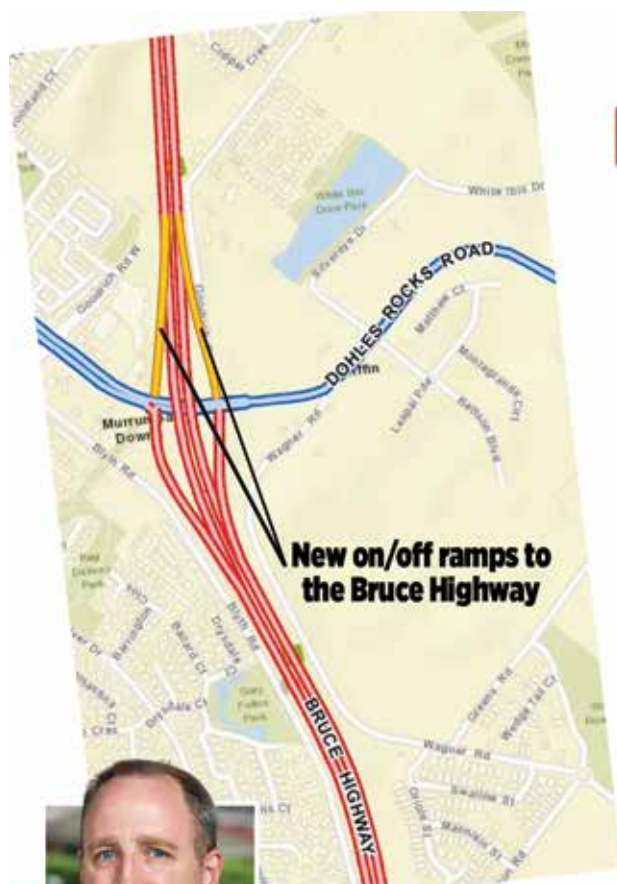

The Turnbull Government's commitment to building new and upgrading existing infrastructure will not only reduce travel times and make roads safer, it will continue to create more jobs for Queenslanders.

There were 128,700 jobs created in Queensland in the last year on the back of strong investment in the state.

A record 420,700 jobs were created in Australia in the last 12 months while the nation has experienced a record 17 consecutive months of jobs growth.

The Turnbull Government's continued investment in infrastructure will continue to drive strong jobs growth throughout the nation.

Pictured: Prime Minister Malcolm Turnbull with local federal Members Luke Howarth and Peter Dutton inspect the Griffin On and Off Ramp last week.

Less time commuting more time living!

New on/off ramps to the Bruce Highway from Dohles Rocks Road means less traffic on our local roads and congestion at the Anzac Ave, North Lakes entries/exits. After speaking with Griffin residents over the years it was evident that this was a major concern for locals. I am pleased to represent your views in Parliament and get the infrastructure built that our community needs.

I DON'T TRUST MY OWN JUDGMENT OF OTHER PEOPLE'S CHARACTER

Hi Leonie,

After reading your column for years and it being literally the first thing I read on a Thursday, I have decided to put a problem of my own to you.

Recently, I have found myself being very wary and distrustful of others and I actually don't trust my own judgment of people's character. I have been developing a kind of anxiety about people these last few months and I have to say that it has come on late because I am 64 years old.

My husband died almost a year ago now and since being on my own I have really noticed that people are not what they seem to be, and this now has me reluctant to make friends.

I know that I do need to get out of myself and my own head and socialise but how do you know if people are safe to make friends with. I was heavily involved in netball and there was this one family that I always admired because they seemed like such a strong family with beautiful girls and what looked like a happy marriage. I have since found out that the mother has drinking issues and she and the girls left the father and he is now living with his parents at the age of 54!

I feel so angry for being taken in by this family. Another instance is that I met what I thought was a lovely lady at the library who was interested in building family trees just like me, but she has started to ask me to lend her money. I know this all seems quite petty, but these things have only really come into my thinking lately. Another example is the lady who is in the same over 50's retirement village as me keeps asking me to drive her to her appointments and give her bus fare and I know she just goes on the bus to the club to spend it. I won't be giving her anymore as I am tight myself. Why is this all happening now and how can I get my confidence back?

Name withheld/Morayfield

Hi,

Reading your email, I feel that there are several things going on here. Firstly, as my long-deceased mother used to say, "You never really know anyone until you live with them" This is most likely the reason people stated living together before marriage, so they could get a realistic experience of what coupling for life means.

Another thing that happens is that sometimes we have our favourite movie or sports stars whom we enjoyed watching and following and they turn out to be creeps, criminals, drug users or abusers. I grew up enjoying and watching Dustin Hoffman thinking he was so sweet and gentle. In fact, I liked him so much that I named my son after him. Considering recent allegations, I may have been admiring a not very nice person. I felt the same way about Keven Spacey and we all know how that has played out. Likewise, I'm sure there are many young cricket fans who are very disillusioned about their sport and heroes right now.

So, what I'm saying is that we tend to project certain characteristics on to others and we are often very wrong.

So why are you noticing all this now? My thoughts are that it is because you are now on your own. Firstly, because when we are in a couple, we have someone else's eyes, ears, intuition and opinions in the mix and we can discuss our interpretations of others -so things we may miss, our partner may pick up on and vice versa. Secondly, some people will take advantage of a person who is on their own for their own personal gain knowing you are alone and perhaps lonely and vulnerable. This is why widowed, and single people are often targeted by internet scams called "Catfishing"

Now in terms of other people like your netball family letting you down and making you angry: I feel that you need to take a good hard look at yourself here. They are not living their life to impress you or garner your admiration. Their family and life have absolutely nothing to do with you and therefore that haven't let you down in any way shape or form. You had an idea of them in your head that they didn't put there: you did. Life is hard, people stumble, and marriages fail.

That all being said I would encourage you to continue making friends with an alert BS radar and the strength to move on when things don't seem as they should be.

As the beautiful Maya Angelou said, "When someone shows you who they are, believe them the first time" People will always show their hand, your job is to not make excuses for bad behaviour or poor character and move on quickly without guilt about doing the right thing for yourself.

Til next week, Leonie

MARATHON QUEEN'S BATON RELAY MAKES ITS WAY THROUGH REDCLIFFE

The Queen's Baton Relay spent some quality time in Redcliffe on 30 March 2018 coinciding with Good Friday and the annual Redcliffe Festival of Sails. After 100 days being carried by approximately 3,800 batonbearers in Australia, the Queen's Baton finished its journey at the Opening Ceremony on the Gold Coast on 4 April.

Australia's sporting superstars thrilled thousands of supporters who lined the streets for a chance to see their heroes hold the Queen's Baton. Among them, local legend and Paralympic gold medallist (Swimming) Lakeisha 'Lucky' Patterson OAM and North Lakes' Kayleigh Williams.

"I'm very honoured to be nominated by the community and everyone who has been a part of this Relay journey has done amazing things in their community, so it's such an honour to be recognised," Lakeisha Patterson said.

The inspirational young athlete, who is on the GC2018 Australian swim team, acknowledged the strides currently taken in sport towards inclusion, in particular GC2018, which in five days' time will host the largest integrated Para-Sport program in Commonwealth Games history.

"Inclusion is going in the right direction. I think we'll have massive, massive crowds. Competing for your country in front of your country, it's really quite special. It's going to be a great Games."

Commonwealth Games and Olympic gold medallist Alicia Coutts OAM said she was overwhelmed by the experience.

"It's very exciting to have the Queen's Baton in Brisbane and the crowds are fantastic! It wasn't until I jumped off the [Batonbearer] bus that it sunk in how much of an honour it is to be part of it [the Relay] today," she said.

Coutts rose to fame for the Delhi 2010 Commonwealth with a five gold-medal haul.

"The Commonwealth Games are very special to me as they were a big part of my life during my swimming career."

The Gold Coast 2018 Commonwealth Games finishes Sunday 15 April. As we went to press was Australia leading the medal tally (and we don't expect that to change), followed by England and Canada.

Hi everyone,

The 15th March 2018 marked the 10th anniversary of the Moreton Bay Region.

A decade on, our region has been named Queensland's Strongest Economy and one of the state's fastest growing areas. This year, our region's population surpassed 438,000 and is on track to be greater than the current population of Tasmania by 2031 with major residential developments including Capestone at Mango Hill, Burpengary's North Harbour and the earmarked Caboolture West.

Today, Moreton Bay boasts a Gross Regional Product valued at $12.92 billion and is home to more than 25,000 businesses.

Since 2008 a number of major projects have been delivered including the $988 million Redcliffe Peninsula Line, the $26 million Caboolture Hub and Town Square, $14 million Moreton Bay Central Sports Complex and the $45 million Corso at North Lakes. If the first 10 years is anything to go by, Moreton Bay has a bright future ahead.

UNDERSTANDING CANCER

BY DR ANITA GREEN

Most of us have been touched by cancer in some way – whether it's through a friend, work colleague, family member or personally.

One in two Queenslanders will be diagnosed with cancer in their lifetime. That's around 27,000 people receiving the news that they have cancer this year.

Cancer affects people from all walks of life, in every location, at any age. An estimated 14.1 million new cases of cancer are diagnosed around the world annually, excluding non-melanoma skin cancers.

Cancer is a disease that can be distressing and confusing for those affected, and is often difficult to comprehend.

Firstly, there are more than 100 types of cancer that can affect the human body including common forms like breast, bowel and lung cancer – and less common forms like uterine, blood or stomach cancer.

So what exactly is cancer and how can it occur?

Cancer is defined as a disease caused by an uncontrolled division of abnormal cells.

Normally cells grow and multiply in a controlled way, however, if something causes a mistake to occur in the cells' genetic blueprints, this control can be lost.

Normal cells multiply and die in an orderly way.

Sometimes however, cells don't grow, they divide and die in an usual way. Cancer can start when cells in a certain part of the body start multiplying and growing out of control.

These cells may cause blood or lymph fluid in the body to become abnormal, or a lump, called a tumour, to form. Not all tumours are cancerous and harmful though.

WHAT EXACTLY IS CANCER AND HOW CAN IT OCCUR?

If these cells do not spread beyond the immediate area, they are said to be benign and not cancerous. If these cells spread into surrounding areas, or to different parts of the body, they are known as malignant – commonly referred to as cancer.

People are either diagnosed with a primary cancer, the origin of the abnormal cells, or a secondary cancer, the place in the body where the cells have travelled to.

More research is needed to determine the root cause of many cancers and at Cancer Council we're continually investing in potentially lifesaving medical and scientific investigations.

We've all heard myths about what causes cancer, from standing too close to the microwave, to drinking too many cups of coffee. But many of these things are just that – myths.

What we do know is fact – there are a number of chemical, physical and biological agents that have been shown to trigger some mistakes in the cells' blueprint that can cause cancer.

These are called carcinogens and include tobacco, ultraviolet radiation, and asbestos. Behavioural and lifestyle risk factors include an unhealthy diet, a sedentary lifestyle, overweight and obesity, and risky alcohol consumption.

Up to one third of all cases are preventable, so it's vital to lead a healthy lifestyle to ensure you reduce your risk of the disease.

It's also important to get to know your body. Know what feels normal and what doesn't. Early detection saves lives. If you notice any changes, such as a lump in your breast or a spot growing on your skin, make sure you book an appointment with a trusted GP.

We know that when you or a loved one is diagnosed with cancer, questions arise and sometimes it's hard to find trusted answers. At Cancer Council Queensland there is team of trained clinical professionals available to answer all questions, about all cancers.

Those in need of cancer-related support can call Cancer Council's 13 11 20 from Monday to Friday between 9am and 5pm.

MOVE TOWARDS A BETTER FUTURE

with Leonie Schilling's

North Lakes
Counselling Services

Leonie has turned our relationship around and we are going in a great direction with both of us much happier. Should have done it years ago

Professional, kind and compassionate. She helped clear my hazy perception and set positive goals towards moving forward in my life

Incredibly grateful to Leonie for her spot-on advice regarding my highly emotional, anxious child.

After being very sceptical of the process, this lady made me feel very at ease and was very gentle with my feelings of grief.

NORTH LAKES COMMUNITY WOMEN'S GROUP INC. NEWS

Our April General Meeting was well attended with lots of items on the Agenda. We discussed venues for our Christmas in July and Melbourne Cup functions as well as our upcoming Fashion Parade and Mothers Day Raffle. Of course our April birthday ladies weren't forgotten with another delicious cake was cut and shared, following a "Happy Birthday" song from all present.

We also had time to play a game of "Switch Sides", another fun way of getting to know more about our fellow members. It was surprising to learn that one of our members can play the spoons and another can juggle. There are no end to our talents!

Tuesday 17th April - Fashion Parade Morning. Six of our very own models will be highlighting fashions from Atrium Boutique. The Frugal Fashion Parade which was originally earmarked for this day will be deferred to later in the year. Our esteemed Treasurer will also be baking Anzac biscuits for us to share for morning tea. Visitors welcome.

Tuesday 24th April - A 9am start for us today as we are very privileged to have been invited to attend a sneak preview of the new North Lakes Hotel. After our tour we will head to the North Lakes Sports Club for lunch. Members only.

Tuesday 1st May - May General Meeting. Visitors welcome.

Our meetings are open to all women in North Lakes/Mango Hill-Moreton Bay District. For more information please contact Trish 0447 071 221 or Sue 0418 785 944.

QUEENSLAND POPULATION TO HIT 5 MILLION, DRIVING HOUSING DEMAND

Queensland's population is projected to reach 5 million in a couple of months, according to the ABS today, and this is translating to a strong property market in the Sunshine State

REQ Chairman Rob Honeycombe said Queensland real estate market, and the wider Queensland economy, would benefit from such strong growth.

"Queensland grew by 81,000 people last year, and we were the most popular state for internal migration, growing more than any other state in the year to September 2017.

Overseas migration added 31,000 to Queensland's population, which was almost 40 per cent of all new residents in the year to September 2017.

"Last year, $54 billion of Queensland residential real estate was bought and sold," Mr Honeycombe said.

"Our popularity means demand for housing is growing and this is good news for some of our weaker markets such as the inner Brisbane apartment market and regional Queensland," Mr Honeycombe said.

"Of course, there are pockets where housing supply is tight and this population growth is placing pressure on markets such as the Sunshine Coast and the Gold Coast, where prices are rising steady and vacancy rates are at historic lows.

"These areas would benefit from increased supply and, in fact, both the Sunshine Coast and Gold Coast have additional levels of supply coming to market in the near future.

The ABS data revealed 12,000 of our 19,000 net internal migrants were from New South Wales.

"We have known for some time that many southerners are also moving to regional Queensland, seeking a peaceful lifestyle change.

"Downsizers and pre-retirees are selling their Sydney property to move to regional coastal towns, such as Bundaberg and the Fraser Coast, to buy waterfront property and a great lifestyle," Mr Honeycombe said.

"Queensland real estate offers great value and this is why it underpins the state's economy. When real estate performs well, everyone benefits," Mr Honeycombe said.
